

From hoops to hard drives: The NBA's Philadelphia 76ers joins forces with Sourcepass and Acronis to secure data

Dunking on data loss and cyberthreats through the Acronis #TeamUp Program, Sourcepass backs up the 76ers efficiently and proactively.

BACKGROUND

Harris Blitzer Sports & Entertainment \(HBSE\) is recognized as one of the most innovative and entrepreneurial companies in the industry. HBSE is a leading sports and entertainment organization that has grown an impressive global portfolio spanning the National Hockey League (NHL), National Basketball Association (NBA) and National Football League (NFL). Acronis

SOURCEPASS

“We run a global sports business and it’s imperative that all of our data is securely backed up. Acronis helps our organization to operate efficiently knowing that our data is protected and easily accessible when we need it.”

Sasha Puric, the 76ers’ Chief Technology Officer

THE SOLUTION

Protecting large volumes of disparate data requires dedicated expertise and technology. The 76ers collaborated with Sourcepass to achieve comprehensive protection through the Acronis #TeamUp Program. Sourcepass uses Acronis Cyber Protect Cloud with Advanced Backup, Acronis Management (RMM) and Acronis Security to secure the 76ers’ data — on and off the court. The natively integrated platform helps Sourcepass technicians simplify management by unifying data protection, cybersecurity, Microsoft 365 protection and endpoint management in a single console.

“We’re able to recover emails, SharePoint assets and all the data stored in the Microsoft 365 cloud. We can pull it back down to them (the 76ers) should anything happen to their Microsoft 365 environment,” says Zach Sitas, Senior Backup and Disaster Recovery Manager of Sourcepass.

Puric shares his thoughts on the solution: “The performance of it (Acronis Cyber Protect Cloud) is remarkable. Sometimes you have a mailbox that doesn’t get backed up and you will get an individual alert on the specific mailbox. It tells you the exact email that was not backed up for ‘X’ reason. It gets granular. And we generate a lot of data from communications, so that data is mission critical for us.”

“It’s a single pane of glass from the reports and analytics perspective,” says Puric, “and we don’t need to treat Microsoft 365 any differently than we would other systems in our network.”

THE RESULTS

Acronis Cyber Protect Cloud empowers Sourcepass to manage the 76ers' regular backups and Microsoft 365 cybersecurity and data protection easily and efficiently in a single solution. The 76ers scored reliable and comprehensive protection that gives the sports organization confidence that critical data is protected across diverse IT environments.

As a result of the winning technology partnership, Sourcepass also sees stark improvement in operational efficiency and growth.

"As a managed service provider, resolution time is important to us." says Roli Points, Co-founder of Sourcepass, "We are a resource-intensive business. Having tools and platforms that allow us to be more efficient is more profitable for us and better for our clients because we can provide true business continuity. Having moved the Acronis platform, our teams are nearly 50% more efficient in resolving tickets on data backup for on prem and cloud systems."

"The Acronis #TeamUp partnership is a brilliant program. It's a win-win-win for the MSP and Acronis, but also the client. It gives the client an opportunity to work with top-tier professionals, leverage cutting edge technology and build a strong value proposition."
